

VOLUME XLIV.

JANESVILLE, WISCONSIN, MONDAY, NOVEMBER 5, 1900.

NUMBER 20

NO DOUBT ABOUT ELECTION RESULT

McKinley and Roosevelt Are Put Down as Sure Winners.

ODDS IN THEIR FAVOR

The Democrats' Only Hope is
New York, Indiana and New Jersey.

LAST NOTES OF THE CAMPAIGN

Chicago, Nov. 5.—McKinley and Roosevelt are sure winners, the odds in their favor are 20 to 1.

Not only has Bryan lost the "Second Battle" for the presidency, but it is now pretty well assured that the Nebraska legislature is to be republican, and hence Mr. Bryan cannot go to the United States senate.

Pettigrew of South Dakota against whom the national republican party has made a dead set is also believed to be beaten.

The republicans are now claiming Kentucky and are preparing to put up a vigorous fight for it. They will appoint deputy United States marshals and trouble is feared about the polls in Louisville tomorrow.

The democratic managers have virtually abandoned their claims to Illinois and Ohio.

If they have any hope—and such as they have is manifestly cold and cheerless—it lies in the old democratic combination of New York with Indiana and the solid south.

As this would not be enough without New Jersey the democrats are turning to California and claiming the nine electoral votes of that state.

The republican managers from Senator Hanna down are absolutely confident. They will not admit the possibility of defeat. If there is any nervousness among them any fear of weak spots, their most intimate friends could not discover it yesterday. Chairman Hanna and Vice Chairman Payne ridicule the democratic talk of carrying New York, Indiana and California, along with the South.

Bryan's Final Speeches.

Fairmount, Neb., Nov. 5.—William J. Bryan left Lincoln this morning for a final series of speeches in this campaign and his trip will be through a section of Nebraska considered extremely close politically. The first stop was at Exeter where he addressed a crowd of 8,000 charging that the trust iniquity was brought on by republican rule and denying that Nebraska is prosperous. He read figures by the state labor commissioner to prove that the real and chattel mortgages in the state had increased one hundred and forty-nine millions during the past four years.

Four thousand welcomed him at Fairmount. Other points to be touched are Harvard, Minden, Holdridge, Wilcox, Hastings, Aurora, York and Seward, returning to Lincoln at six o'clock this evening and speaking in the public square. Then he leaves for Omaha where he makes six speeches tonight. Bryan is very hopeful of victory tomorrow.

Roosevelt Rests at Home.

Oyster Bay, L. I., Nov. 5.—Gov. Roosevelt will remain at home today resting. Tonight he will deliver the last speech of the campaign to the people of his home town. Special trains will bring marching clubs from New York to assist in the demonstration. Tomorrow evening he will receive returns at his residence, Sagamore Hill.

Money Rates Advanced.

New York, Nov. 5.—Money rates advanced steadily this morning and at eleven o'clock were fifteen per cent. The tightness is conceded to be due to the election.

Odds Still Favor McKinley.

New York, Nov. 5.—The McKinley odds this morning are still five and four and a half to one with plenty of McKinley money.

Britian Favors McKinley.

London, Nov. 5.—The St. James Gazette today in summing up the general English opinion regarding the American election says that Bryan will not be elected and that McKinley's imperialism which happens to jump with British notions and interests, will make his return particularly acceptable to the English.

LA FOLLETTE SPENT SUNDAY QUIETLY

He Speaks Today at Baraboo and Winds Up the Campaign at Madison Tonight.

Madison, Wis., Nov. 5.—Mr. La Follette spent Sunday quietly in this city in his home. He was much exhausted with his work Saturday. His route laying through his old congressional district he met many friends and at nearly every stopping place he nearly doubled up on the time allowed him by the schedule. As the result of this he had no time to rest before going on the stage at Stoughton before the main audience of the day.

He left this morning for Baraboo where he will make the first speech of the day, and will close his campaign speech in the university gymnasium in this city this evening. This meeting will be a rousing reception home.

THE BERRYSBURG EXPLOSION.

Eleven Dead. Not Thirty-Two as at First Reported.

Philippi, W. Va., Nov. 5.—The explosion at the Southern Coal and Transportation company's coal mines at Berrysburg, six miles from here, brought sorrow to many homes. The explosion, heard for fully a dozen miles around, was the signal that alarmed the neighborhood and caused hundreds of people to hurry to the scene to see what had happened. The sight appalled them. It is impossible to tell yet accurately how many are lost. This cannot be done until roll call can be taken. Men are busy now removing the dead from the mines, and as the work is extremely dangerous it is consequently very slow. The dead: Andrew Blackwell, Albert Brown, Lawrence Duncan, Ollie Franks, Joseph Jackson, Richard Johnston, Lewis Pack, Adam Peck, Ivan Petruich, John Poznauski, Walter Walenski. The explosion was not of gas, but was caused by dynamite. There had been a fall of top rock in the mine and in clearing this up dynamite was being used. Several shots had been prepared and one of these produced concussion sufficient to discharge twenty-seven sticks of dynamite which were lying on the ground in too close proximity.

M'KINLEY CERTAIN OF HIS ELECTION

Thinks He Will Have More Electors
Votes Than in 1896—Bryan
Also Feels Hopeful.

Canton, O., Nov. 5.—"I am absolutely certain of election. I have information which I regard as trustworthy that leads me to make this claim. From what I know of the situation I will have more electoral votes this year than I had in 1896. With an honest election and a fair count, such as I hope to get, nothing can prevent the republican ticket from winning on Tuesday."

The quoted words are the sum and substance of what President McKinley says in regard to the result of the battle of ballots on Tuesday.

The president's Sunday was one of rest. He and Dr. Hixley walked half a dozen blocks to church and heard a sermon from Dr. C. E. Manchester.

Senator Hanna is expected to reach Canton on Tuesday. He will be a house guest of the president and will stay here to receive the election returns.

As Viewed By Bryan.

Lincoln, Neb., Nov. 5.—Mr. Bryan issued the following statement today:

"The fight has been made and won. Money and coercion robbed us of a victory in 1896, but I believe they will be powerless to change the result this time. The people are in earnest and very few can be bought. Our organization is much better than it was in 1896, and therefore there is much less danger of frauds. So far attempts of intimidation have been rare this year, where they were very common in 1896; and even where intimidation has been attempted it has angered the employees rather than coerced them."

RUSH TO CLAM BEDS TO HUNT PEARLS

More Than 1,000 Persons Are Camped on the Banks of the Mississipippi River.

Prairie du Chien, Wis., Nov. 5.—Discovery of pearls in the upper Mississippi river has caused a tremendous rush to the clam beds. House boats are crowding the river and more than 1,000 persons are encamped along the river bank. The finding of a few thousand dollars worth of pearls by the diggers has started a raid upon the river. One of the largest pearls recently found, the Allen pearl, weighed 100 grains and is said to be the largest perfect pearl yet taken from the river. It was purchased by William Moore, of Comanche, La., who paid $3,000 for it.

A Wealthy German Author.

Unlike most German authors, Gerhart Hauptmann is a wealthy man. He had some means by inheritance, and added to them a great deal by an early marriage, while his plays are profitable, too. Building villas is his favorite way of investing his earnings. His first villa was in Silesia, the second near Berlin, the third in the Giant mountains, and at present he is building a fourth, in accordance with his own plans, at Blasewitz, near Dresden.

BRYAN WAS A FALSE PROPHET; "M'KINLEY WAS RIGHT."

Four years ago William Jennings Bryan, Prophet of Evil, foretold as follows:

"If McKinley and the republican party are successful and put in power for the next four years, wages will be decreased, hard times will come upon us, mortgages upon our homes will be foreclosed by the money lenders, shops and factories will close. We will export no goods, and we will import from foreign lands all the goods we use. Thus will ruin, want and misery be with us."

McKinley and the republican party were successful. Four years have elapsed, four years of that rising tide of prosperity which, each year of the McKinley administration, has touched a higher mark.

The whole country is prosperous, and does not want a change.

Bryan was wrong then; he is wrong now.

"LET WELL ENOUGH ALONE."

GOOMY OUTLOOK IN THE PHILIPPINES

REBELS DETERMINED TO CONTINUE THE STRUGGLE.

Taft Commission Unable to Organize Municipalities Except by Force—Towns So Organized Are Burned Down by the Insurgents—Several Severe Skirmishes Reported.

London, Nov. 5.—A special to the Globe from Hong Kong says that the situation in the Philippines is unsatisfactory owing to the failure of the Taft commission to establish cordial relations with the natives and the inability to organize municipalities except by force. Several towns in which municipal government was established were burned recently and the natives manifestly are determined to continue the struggle indefinitely. The trade outlook is gloomy.

Manila, Nov. 5.—A native orchestra last week lured the United States troops from their quarters near Dagupan, while the insurgents attacked the rear, killing two Americans and wounding three.

The week was devoted to active scouting. The insurgents having failed to crush a single garrison are now experiencing a reaction.

There is considerable excitement here over the approaching presidential election in the United States with a good deal of betting on the result.

Today Senator Buencamino, representing the principal ex-insurgents in Manila, requested Judge Taft to forward to Washington a signed expression of their loyalty.

STEAMER ST. PAUL IS BADLY DAMAGED

Starboard Shaft Torn Away and Engine Crippled—Other Steamers Reported Disabled.

New York, Nov. 5.—Reports of disasters at sea followed each other rapidly yesterday, but fortunately no lives were lost in any of them.

First, the steamship St. Paul, of the American line, Captain Roberts in command, arrived in port yesterday twenty-four hours late, with the big starboard propeller gone and its engine room badly damaged. Statements of the different officials vary as to the cause of the accident, but the damage sustained by the steamship will probably amount to several hundred thousand dollars.

Then came accounts of the Fuerst Bismarck and the Pretoria going aground on the flats at the mouth of the Elbe, and then followed the account of the sinking of the Mary Mosquito by the Saxonian outside of Boston, Oct. 29.

One of the engineers of the St. Paul made the following statement:

"It will take five months to repair the damage which is from $250,000 to $300,000 damage. The starboard engine is a wreck. The ship did not strike a derelict but an unusually big sea struck it, throwing the stern out of the water and the propellers, having no resistance made frightfully rapid revolutions, which caused the starboard engine to race and the starboard tail shaft broke in two and with the wheel fell into the water."

CRUEL TREATMENT OF AMERICAN LADY

She Was Led Naked Through the Streets and Afterwards Cut to Pieces.

London, Nov. 5.—Dr. Morrison, writing to the Times from Pekin says: "The evidence in the Pao Fing Fu trial to fix the responsibility of the massacres showed that an American lady before execution was led naked through the streets of the city and that she was cut to pieces."

Shanghai, Nov. 5.—Advices from Tien Tsin show that confusion, disorganization and the absence of security are the chief characteristics of the allied occupation.

DOWIEITES KICKED AND CUFFED Harsh Treatment of Elders by Mansfield,

Ohio, Mo.

Mansfield, O., Nov. 5.—A vigilance committee of men and boys captured a Dowie elder—Mark Loblow of Chicago—accompanied by a woman, presumably his wife, in the eastern part of the city about noon. E. H. Leiby, a local Dowieite who was with them, was chased to a swamp and made his escape. Loblow and the woman were taken to the Erie depot, no officers being in sight, and, after being held there for two hours, they were compelled to buy tickets to Galion. In the meantime another elder, who refused to give his name, was also brought in by a citizen and deported on the same train. Both were kicked and cuffed by the crowd, which numbered several hundred, before the train arrived. While the unknown elder endeavored to make a speech from the rear platform of the train he was pelted with stones and gravel.

Move Howard and Youtsey.

Frankfort, Ky., Nov. 5.—James Howard and Henry Youtsey were taken to Louisville jail this morning for safe keeping. Attorneys for both sides agreed that the two prisoners might be taken to Louisville and Judge Cantrill issued the order.

Oshkosh Schools Closed.

Oshkosh, Wis., Nov. 5.—The spread of diphtheria in the city has become so rapid that the health and school authorities have determined to close the schools, both public and parochial. Not only is the attendance as to pupils greatly lessened, but a number of teachers are ill. Typhoid fever is also prevalent in the same section.

Vermont Shows a Growth.

Washington, Nov. 5.—The population of the state of Vermont, as announced today by the census bureau, is 343,641, against 332,422 in 1890. This is an increase of 11,219, or 3.3 per cent.

EYES OF EUROPE ARE ON AMERICA

Keen Interest Taken in the Presidential Election—The Influence of the Result.

London, Nov. 5.—The American election is the chief topic today. The dispatches from New York and Washington have been copious, but have dealt with electioneering episodes and vagaries rather than essential issues of the contest and the public here has been bewildered and dazed by stories of extraordinary parades, mileage records, the two chief stumpers, balloons in air, female spellbinders on milk-white steeds and other evidences of Yankee inventiveness.

Sober-minded Englishmen, accustomed to carrying on elections in the same way decade after decade, have read these accounts with wonder and said: "What will these Americans do next?"

The business world follows the trend of American politics closely, because its own trade hangs in the balance of votes to be cast tomorrow.

CARDINAL GIBBONS GIVES GOOD ADVICE

Noted Catholic Dignitary Advises People to Vote Their Choice—

Need Not Fear Disaster.

Baltimore, Md., Nov. 5.—Cardinal Gibbons took occasion at high mass today to say a few words on the subject of the coming election in his regular monthly sermon at the cathedral.

The cardinal never takes any active part in politics, rarely, if ever, casting his ballot, but to those who are fortunate enough to be in his confidence he does not hesitate to express himself freely upon the issues involved in the present contest.

He takes the position that there need be no alarm upon the part of anyone over the result of the coming election, and asserts that there is nothing in the situation to warrant the belief that the election of either candidate will in any wise seriously affect the future welfare and prosperity of the American republic.

BOERS FOLLOW THE BRITISH BOLDLY

Burglers Were Surprised Near Belfast, But a Timely Blizzard Saved Them From Defeat.

London, Nov. 5.—General Dorien surprised the Boer lager near Belfast in the Eastern Transvaal but the British were prevented from following their advantage by a blizzard and were compelled to return to camp. The Boers followed boldly. Captain Chambers of the Canadian rifles was killed and Major Handie wounded. Other losses of the British were one killed and fourteen wounded.

Ladysmith, Nov. 5.—The Boers are reappearing in the neighborhood outposts, sniping.

LIFE OF DAVIS IS IN DANGER

Minnesota Senator Will Have to Submit to a Surgical Operation.

WILL LOSE HIS FOOT

Amputation of the Leg May Be Necessary, and That Would Prove Fatal.

BLOOD POISONING HAS SET IN

St. Paul, Minn., Nov. 5.—Senator Davis' condition today is critical. A consultation of physicians will be held this evening.

St. Paul, Minn., Nov. 5.—United States Senator Cushman K. Davis is seriously sick and the chances are that he will not recover. His foot, poisoned accidentally a few weeks ago, fails to yield to treatment.

Dr. Stone, Senator Davis' family physician, this morning stated that it would be necessary to amputate a part of the foot, and that it might mean the loss of the entire foot if not the leg. If this should be necessary he fears that the patient would not survive the operation.

The senator, it is reported, has lost hope of recovering, and this fact renders the case more serious.

Entire Limb Is Affected.

The pus which had formed in the forepart of the senator's foot, and for the removal of which two surgical operations have been performed, has now gathered further back towards the heel, and indications are that it is permeating the entire limb.

The senator was restless and suffered much pain today.

All From a Corn.

Early in October Senator Davis noticed the swelling

SOCIAL FEATURES WILL BE PUSHED

AN INTERESTING WINTER PROGRAM FOR THE Y. M. C. A.

Secretary Kline and the Board of Directors Will Make the Rooms Attractive and Profitable with Educational and Physical Instructions—Receipts and Expenses.

Secretary J. C. Kline and the board of directors of the Y. M. C. A. have made out a most interesting program for the young men of the association this winter.

The various circles of the Young Men's Christian association are exhibiting much activity and a very successful season is in project. Much interest is manifested in each of the departments and the Junior work in particular is moving along with zest.

Athletics promise to boom throughout the winter. Indoor base ball and basket ball will be played.

In fact all lines of work are now showing much life. The evening classes in educational work promises a very valuable adjunct. An outline of the proposed work is as follows:

Professional Course—Elementary law, extemporaneous debates and composition.

Commercial Course—Book keeping, penmanship and business forms.

Mechanical Course—Drafting, engineering and the study of steam.

Vocal Music—Male Chorus beginners' class in music.

Also a course of seven practical talks by business and professional men.

The social department is to be pushed as never before in the history of the association. Ten social evenings with entertainments aside from the regular course are planned and all young men in the city are urged to call and find out all the details.

This is an institution of public interest to every citizen and Jew, Catholic, protestant or any man who wants to be a gentleman will always receive a welcome without money or price.

The following is a statement of the receipts and expenses for the past year and an estimate of what is needed for the ensuing year:

Dr. Sheppard's Big Peach.

Dr. C. L. Sheppard picked a peach from a tree on his lot yesterday that measured nine inches in circumference. It is the largest peach found here this season.—Toledo Blade.

Janesville High School Notes

MANUAL TRAINING.

One of the instruments in the hands of the modern teacher for use in the development or education of the American child, is manual training. I say child so as to include both sexes, for I think it has been conclusively proven that although manual training classes in the high school consist largely of boys, it is just as useful to the girls from a disciplinary standpoint, as to their brothers.

One of the best definitions of this branch of education is—"That which includes the command of the bodily organs for all the ordinary purposes of life, and the special training for special aptitudes." What can be more comprehensive or more practical than the study of that which has to do with "all the ordinary purposes of life?" If parents and pupils really appreciated this, every pupil in school would be in the manual training course.

Manual training begins in the kindergarten, where the little ones, too young to exercise their powers of memory to any great extent, are taught to properly use their hands.

Manual training is also implied in writing and drawing, which is taught in all the grades; in piano playing and singing; in the gestures so necessary to good oratory. The Delcarte and dancing teacher gives manual training instruction just as truly as the mechanic and carpenter.

If we review for a moment the wonderful advancement made in child study during the past ten years, we can see the principles of manual training more prominently set forth than at first appears.

Important as is the manual facility in the entire course of education, it is not a matter the public school teacher can spend much time upon further than is required for special purposes: the art of manual training begins properly in the high school and extends through the polytechnic institute.

Mechanical drawing has educational value aside from the purely practical—or the mere ability to reproduce lines, angles and curves accurately. The ability to reproduce a drawing would not count for a great deal, if that was the sole object to be attained; but the practical idea back of this subject is the training of the sense of proportion, perspective and form, so that an object existing in reality or in a mental picture, may be so reproduced on paper as to convey to another mind the identical conception in the mind of the draftsman.

The well rounded man is of value to society because he has developed many sides of his being, and thereby is able to come in touch with a greater variety of classes he can appreciate the environment of the mechanic as well as the professional man—he derives pleasure in proportion to the number of faculties he has developed; and so a doctor is a better doctor because of his knowledge of mechanics.

A lawyer is almost compelled to familiarize himself with all trades and practices during his education, or he will have to educate himself in the trade of his clients as fast as his cases come to him, and this at a time when he can ill afford the time and exertion.

Much more might be said on this subject generally and specifically but space forbids.

The manual training course at our high school includes a minimum of four years of drafting, one of bench work in carpentry, cabinet and pattern work, one in lathe work in wood, one year in general forge, shaping and welding practice, and the last year is devoted to lathe and planer work in metal and tool making, hardening, tempering and finishing.

The generosity of some of our citizens has aided materially the purchase of machinery; but the large number of boys to be accommodated demand more machinery to successfully carry on the work of instruction and practice.

MINNESOTA GIANTS TOO MUCH FOR THEM

Varsity People Are in Sack Cloth and Ashes—Close of the Campaign in Madison Tonight.

Madison, Wis., Nov. 5.—The University party is in sack cloth and ashes. The failure of Tratt to kick that goal at Minneapolis, which would have saved our team from defeat, has caused a quiet and subdued air to pervade the student atmosphere. Wisconsin did not absolutely predict a victory but deep down in their hearts the followers of the cardinal expected to see Minnesota down. Consequently upon this error of judgment on the part of the Wisconsin rooters the Gopher rooters made merry at the expense of many a Badger's allowance and there will be a shortage of change in many a student's pocket for some time to come.

The team arrived here on Sunday morning accompanied by most of the excursionists. Those who saw the game pronounce it a wonderful contest. Our eleven put up a faster and better quality of football but the superior weight of the Minnesota giants was a handicap too great to be overcome. Wisconsin is rather despondent over the defeat but acknowledges being fairly beaten and will put the score on the shelf to be settled next year.

Grand G. O. P. Rally Tonight.

The La Follette meeting in the gymnasium tonight, closing the campaign in Wisconsin, promises to surpass in size and enthusiasm the great Hanna-Frye rally of two weeks ago. The Students' Republican club and the Madison City Young Men's La Follette club have united their forces in planning the demonstration. A torch light procession will start from the gymnasium at 7 p. m. and after marching around the capitol square will proceed to the home of the "Next Governor" and escort him to the meeting. Several bands will be in attendance. It is expected that the Janesville band which made such a good appearance at the Hanna speech, will be present with a large delegation of Bower City Republicans.

"Little Bob" is a Wisconsin University product; personally known to many students and admired by all. He will receive tonight all the cheering and enthusiasm which by the defeat of the football team on Saturday, was kept from flowing forth and about twice as much more for he is a sure winner.

Chamberlain's Pain Balm Cures Others, Why Not You?

My wife has been using Chamberlain's Pain Balm, with good results, for a lame shoulder that has pained her continually for nine years. We have tried all kinds of medicine and doctors without receiving any benefit from any of them. One day we saw an advertisement of this medicine and thought of trying it, which we did with the best of satisfaction. She has used only one bottle, and her shoulder is almost well.—Adolph L. Millett, Manchester, N. H.

BIRTHPLACE OF THE REPUBLICAN PARTY

PEOPLE ASKED TO CONTRIBUTE TO FUND TO SAVE IT.

Promotion Committee To Take the Matter in Charge—Historic House at Ripon to Be Made the Depository of Republican Archives and Relics of State History.

An effort will be made to recover the house in which Maj. A. E. Bovay and other citizens of Ripon organized the republican party, and to perpetually keep it as an historical relic and receptacle for storing of matters that pertain to local and pioneer history. The sturdy pioneers were largely Saxons or "axe men" and so are we. We permit things to be destroyed and lost that soon might prove of historic merit. Even the landscape of our state is gradually changing its aspect. The rocks, forests and streams show the effects of the coming of the white man. It is interesting to know, that just now a committee of promotion consisting of ex-Gov. Upham of Marshfield, B. J. Price of Hudson, Joel B. Dow of Beloit, W. J. Starr of Eau Claire and others are interesting themselves in the effort to preserve the place, where on March 20, 1854, name and life was given to the party which has made so much of our country's history since that date.

Owing to the fact that most citizens who took part in that memorable mass meeting have passed into the other world, it seems to be incumbent upon all republicans to interest themselves in this project. A landmark so interesting should be forever established—not pulled down or become the object of speculation.

A collection will be taken throughout the state on election day to raise the necessary funds to accomplish this worthy office. Every lover of history, and of course every republican may contribute if he will.

A subscription roll will be signed by contributors and returned together with the contribution, so that each locality will be properly credited with the funds raised. Should any electors wish to contribute who have not had an opportunity to do so, they may send contributions and names to Secretary of Promotion Committee, Box 824 Ripon, Wisconsin. The first dollar has already been sent through the mails. Let citizens of Janesville without distinction of party, or reference to present party preference, sign this subscription roll in honor of Abraham Lincoln and the cause for which he and many others sacrificed all.

A subscription list has been sent to the Gazette and those wishing to contribute can do so by calling at this office.

PREDICTIONS OF PARTY CHAIRMEN

Chairman George E. Bryant, Republican state central committee—We have increased our estimate of the outcome in the state from 100,000 republican plurality to 110,000, and it is fully justified by the reports that we have received. We have polls of the state at large, and of the town and county chairmen. All point the same way—namely, that an overwhelming republican victory is assured without doubt. These reports have been secured with great care as to their reliability, and they may be accepted as absolutely safe. We shall elect republican congressmen in all the ten districts.

Secretary C. J. Noel, Democratic state central committee—I confidently believe that we shall get a democratic plurality for the state and national tickets in Wisconsin of from 15,000 to 20,000, with chances in favor of the latter figure. This is not campaign guess work. But is based on careful polls placed in many scattered precincts. If our reports mean anything, and they certainly ought to, there are strong evidences of a democratic landslide; and if this should not be the case, the republican majority surely will not exceed 30,000. We expect to elect three democratic congressmen, Weisse, Peck and Alyard; while three other districts the sixth, eighth and ninth, are classed doubtful. There have never been more favorable signs in this state before an election.

Opportunities for Business.

During the past year the Chicago & Northwestern Railway company built 474 miles of new line through the most fertile portions of Iowa and Minnesota. These new lines of railway are now in full operation and are dotted with promising towns, which are trade centers for well located communities. A descriptive pamphlet with a list of the business opportunities in each town may be obtained upon application to agents of the Chicago & Northwestern railway or to W. B. Kniskern, general passenger and ticket agent, Chicago, Ill.

LI HUNG CHANG'S TRAITS

A Civil Engineer's Experience of Chinese Officials.

CUNNING THEIR CHIEF WEAPON.

Task Before Li Hung Too Great For His Years—Diplomats Trained by Him—Decree of Chinese Diplomacy—Paper Armies of the Viceroy—Official Corruption.

In the cosmopolitan city of San Francisco are people who have a singularly minute knowledge of men and things in the Chinese empire, says the New York Sun. Among these is John C. Fergusson, a civil engineer who spent more than 20 years in the service of the imperial government. He was in charge of the construction of the first railway in China, which ran from Taku up the Pei-Ho river to a large copper mine about 40 miles distant. At that time China had not begun to go in for foreign improvements as she has within the last few years. Mr. Fergusson found the Chinese officials quick to see the advantages of foreign machinery, but they frankly admitted that the masses were not educated to the point of accepting the hated "foreign devils" improvements. Mr. Fergusson, as the manager of large works calling for the expenditure of much money, was brought into close relations with various Chinese officials. He found the only way to secure any results was to insist upon his own way and upon rigid honesty in accounts. In this way it became noted about that when he demanded supplies or men these must be forthcoming or he would give the indolent taotai no peace until they were produced. It was also found that he insisted upon honesty in accounts, and therefore no tricks to hold out commissions were tried upon him. By this system he secured the confidence and respect of all officials. He knew intimately Li Hung Chang, Taotai Sheng and several other viceroys and governors. Of Li Hung Chang, who now occupies so conspicuous a position, he said the other day in talking of the outlook for a peaceful settlement of the Chinese problem:

"The man is too old to do any good service for China or for the powers. He is over 60 and very infirm. The work before him would try the energies and the diplomatic skill of a man in his prime. Besides, the foreign diplomats in China have no confidence in old Li. He has been mixed up in so many scandals that no one would accept his word in regard to any matter."

A quantity of unused Maxim and Krupp ammunition has been discovered at Tien-tsin.

China's Financial Methods.

China has borrowed from the "foreign devils" in recent years $300,000,000, and the larger part of the money has been expended to pay for modern arms. China evidently believes, says the St. Louis Star, in fighting the devils with their own arms.

Pet Chinese Arm.

A favorite Chinese weapon is a native made rifle of one inch caliber, requiring two men to handle it.

September Song.

Oh, let us all remember September now is here! The goldfinch is blowing And glowing fair and near, The bobwhite blows his whistle, The thistle sheds its fur, While ripens fast the chestnut, The best nut in a bur.

The bloom is on the elder, The spider spins and spins, And insects in garden wicket, The cricket croaks and rasps, The griddle's brightly beaming, And dreaming on one leg, The duster's exhausted And busts on the peg.

The orchard's red and yellow With mallow, juicy fruit, Oh, hear the partridge drumming And strumming on 'ts lute! The air is blue and hazy, The day says goodby And shines to clad the lumpkin— The pumpkin moon of pie.

The squirrel's gayly tripping And skipping on the rail, The batwing suit is hanging And banging on the nail, The smile upon the cruller, Ne'er duller glows and beams, The pie begins to garnish And varnish all our dreams.

The summer girl, beguiling, Trips smiling o'er the pave, As lovely as when gliding And riding on the wave, A sylph of May entrancing, While glancing far and near, To make us all remember September now is here.

on about the imperial court, and hence it would be a good stroke to tie up these loads of tribute rice until the government agrees to make reparation for its recent acts. Nothing produces greater excitement in China in official circles than the stoppage of the tribute rice, for the yamen contain hundreds of officials who must be fed, and to buy this rice would require a very long pause.

"England's hold upon China has been the rich trade of the Yang-tse valley, which is worth all the rest of the empire. If England can retain her grasp on the Yang-tse, she can afford to see larger territory granted to the other powers, for she will still come out the victor. No one has any idea of the resources of this great valley, whose trade has only fairly begun to be exploited. In fact, this valley alone is richer than the whole of South Africa and, properly handled, will bring in a much larger revenue.

"When I was in China, I frequently pointed out to diplomatic officials the folly of training the Chinese in arms. The people are good natural fighters if they have any confidence in their officers, but from the way the Chinese army has been handled it is a wonder that any fighting can be got out of it. A governor of a province is supposed to maintain so many men, but when I was in China not one of these fellows, except Li Hung Chang, ever attempted to keep his military force in efficient condition. Here is the way the thing is managed: The viceroy of Shantung, for instance, is supposed to have 3,000 men under arms. He actually has this number on the books and draws a few cents a day for each and a ration of rice. Instead he will probably not carry 500 men, but will depend upon forced levies should any ceremonial occasion arise in which he must produce troops. He keeps banners and uniforms in stock and he can swell in a day his beggarly force to the full complement of 3,000. Meanwhile the pay and rations for this dummy force cut no small figure in the revenues of his office. There is no efficiency among the men, and the greater part have no modern weapons. Give the Chinaman good weapons and proper drill, and he makes an excellent fighter, who can march on small rations and who may be counted on for better work than most orientals."

ALLIES' FIRE ACCURATE.

Guns on the Walls of Peking Surrounded by Dead Chinese.

The guns on the walls of Peking were mounted in pairs along the battlements. The artillery fire of the allies was extremely accurate, as on the morning of Aug. 15 all these guns were found to have been destroyed by shells, says the Tien-tsin correspondent of the New York Sun. They were surrounded by dead Chinese.

The guns which had been trained on the legations were less than 200 yards distant. They fired on an average 400 or 500 6 pound shells during the hottest period of the attack. The small number of casualties was due to the system of barricades and the fact that the enemy's guns were too close to drop shells through the roofs of the buildings. As a protection against the bombardment and fusillades the troops besieged raised walls of sand bags and dug shelter pits in every building and made every possible use of the covers afforded by the compounds. The ingenuity of the defense is declared to have been astounding.

The obtaining of vegetables by the besieged was due to the plucky action of M. and Mme. Charnat, proprietors of the Peking hotel. From time to time during the periods of armistice they advanced a short distance beyond the lines of the allies and, sitting on a white sheet, which served as a flag of truce, negotiated with the Chinese officers, who were well known to them personally.

A quantity of unused Maxim and Krupp ammunition has been discovered at Tien-tsin.

MR. BRYAN SWARNING

"If there is anyone who believes that the gold standard is a good thing, or that it must be maintained, I warn him not to cast his vote for me because I promise him it will not be maintained in this country longer than I am able to get rid of it."—Hon. William Jennings Bryan, Knoxville, Tenn., Sept. 16, 1896.

THE CONFLICT OVER.

The din and noise of the campaign is over. Orators and party leaders have completed their work. The busy scenes of activity at party headquarters is at an end, and after the great strain of excitement where every energy has been spurred to its utmost limit, will come the rest and reaction that follows the work of a great campaign. It is refreshing to know that in spite of all that is said about corruption in politics, that some of the best brain and many of the best men of the country have been actively engaged in the present struggle for supremacy.

The republican party has been under the direction of just as good men as the country produces, and this is usually true of the democratic party. This year has been an exception, however, as many of the old-time leaders and best men of the democratic party have held themselves aloof from Bryan and Bryanism.

The campaign has been remarkable for some things. It has been the liveliest campaign that the country has ever witnessed without an issue, and yet the real issue is of such vital importance that the party in power has been alert to the danger of defeat.

It is not a question of imperialism, militarism, trusts or 16 to 1, but it is a question of whether the control of the national government shall pass into the hands of fanatical, theorists, who, however honest, would ruin the financial and industrial interests of all the country in less than twelve months.

The contest is over and the great opportunity that comes to every American voter once in four years comes tomorrow. The opportunity that carries with it responsibility that every good citizen should appreciate. The verdict rendered tomorrow will seal the destiny of the nation for four years. There ought not to be a shadow of doubt about the nature of the verdict and unless a majority of the people have been led away by false Gods, there will not be.

A vote for McKinley means an expression of confidence and a desire for continued prosperity. A vote for Bryan means a leap in the dark, and a willingness to take all the chances with a theory that will not stand inspection, and that will result in disaster if put into practice.

Vote the republican ticket and you will take no chances.

PERSONAL RESPONSIBILITY.

Every American voter owes it to himself and to the land that protects him, to exercise the rights and privileges of citizenship. The expression by ballot is the highest privilege that comes to any man. It places him on a level with every other citizen, and makes him the governor of his own destiny. This privilege is also a duty that should be sacred, because it deals with the destiny of the nation. The man who stays away from the ballot box, and criticizes the management of affairs, whether city, state or national, has no right to live in this free land.

Our government is what we, the people, make it; personal responsibility is the heritage of every man, and it cannot be cast aside like an old garment.

If the administration is weak in any department, it is because we, the people, permit it to be weak.

The impersonal "they" covers a multitude of sins. It is the battlement behind which all the kickers, in every department of life, find a satisfactory refuge. What the nation needs, and what every community needs, is more men who feel that they are not only a part of this great republic, but who also feel the burden of personal responsibility so keenly that they are willing to stand under it.

and faithfully discharge the obligations imposed. It is frequently said that every man has a right to vote; the statement would be stronger if reversed; no man has the right to refrain from voting. This right should be exercised tomorrow in deciding one of the most important elections that has ever come before the people. If you have any doubt about how to vote, give your mind the benefit of the doubt and vote for McKinley.

A vote for McKinley means conservative and wise government in the Philippines.

A vote for Bryan means sympathy for Aguinaldo and continued rebellion.

A vote for McKinley means busy factories and contented labor.

A vote for Bryan means silent factories and idleness.

A vote for McKinley means stability for four years.

A vote for Bryan means debased currency.

A vote for McKinley means success.

A vote for McKinley means sound money.

A vote for Bryan means uncertainty.

A vote for McKinley means a fact.

A vote for Bryan means a theory.

A vote for Bryan means ruin.

NAVAL PROGRAM FOR 1901.

Board Will Ask Consent to Build Thirty-Two New Warships.

New York, Nov. 5.—As finally adopted, says a Washington special to the Tribune, the United States naval-increase program for 1901 involves the construction of thirty-two vessels of 151,600 tons displacement, or more than double that laid down in any preceding year. The list which congress is to be asked to authorize is:

Three 15,000-ton battleships, two 15,000-ton armored cruisers, six 2,000-ton gunboats, six 800-ton gunboats, ten 200-ton gunboats, three 15,000-ton colliers, one 7,000-ton repair ship, and one 7,000-ton marine transport.

The board of construction has decided to omit the torpedo boats, both surface and submarine, recommended by the policy board of which Admiral Dewey is chairman, but the program in all other particulars conforms closely to the initial project under discussion a week ago.

CHILDREN'S PARTIES.

Some Novel and Sensible Ways of Entertaining Young Folks.

In the fashionable sets of the largest cities so called children's parties are given every season. These, however, little deserve the name, save in the smallness of stature and fewness of years of the guests.

They are elaborate functions, take place in the evening, and the little maids and masters come in expensive and showy dress. A German is danced, which duplicates the cotillion of the adult belles and beaus, smart favors are distributed and wonderfully criticed and estimated by the precocious youngsters. Finally an elaborate supper is served, of which croquettes, salads, spirituous ices and rich cakes and entrees make up the menu. In England the lines of these juvenile balls trend even closer to those of adult society than here. An English family journal of prominence has thought it necessary to inveigh against the "crying evil of serving champagne and other wines" to such a tender company. Mention is made in the article of the flushed cheeks and sparkling eyes, the loosened tongues and unsteady steps of the young guests after supper. We Americans who read it are glad that at least that pitiable custom is not ours. We may be foolish; we are not wicked in this matter.

In point of fact, a children's party needs no elaborate accessories. There is no entertainment in all the list so sure of being an unqualified success.

Turn 40 children dressed in their best clothes loose in a parlor for three hours, with the knowledge that they are at a party, serving them ice cream and macaroons at the end of the first hour and a half, and they will every one go home in a state of blissful happiness.

The hostess—that is, the mother of the host or hostess—may not be so happy, and the parlor will probably look as if a cyclone had swept over it, but the guests will have but one verdict—that of satisfied pleasure.

More rational happiness and less damage are secured with a little effort to direct the children's amusement. Donkey and observation parties still please though they are not new; cobweb parties have also reached permanent popularity. In arranging for one of these the effect is heightened if gray cord is used, which better simulates the spider's weaving, and to put a few huge manufactured spiders about among the meshes adds to the effect. There should be four prizes attached to the intertwined cords—a girl's and boy's first aid, a girl's and boy's booby prize; each of the latter is fastened to a very short cord which leads to the possessor so quickly to the prize that his or her skill is not tested. Often additional prizes are added.

Auction parties for children are new. Little bags of gay taffeta, holding each 50 beans, are distributed to the little guests as purchasing money, who then bid upon "lots" which an auctioneer offers. The lots are prizes, of course, and each parcel should be tied with ribbons or colored cord, in bright tissue paper. Very big ones contain often the tiniest of trophies—a penny doll, perhaps, gowned in a scarf and tiny bow of ribbon. Much depends upon the auctioneer, who should be a young man or woman with a notion of children's tastes and limitations.

Still another way for the little folks to earn their favors is to suspend them, attached to cords of uneven length, upon a frame or rod; the curtain of a portiere between two rooms answers nicely, or an old fashioned clotheshorse will serve. Each child is blindfolded in turn, and given a pair of blunt pointed scissors; he then makes the effort to reach the frame and cut down one of the swinging parcels, which, if he does, he confiscates. About 15 prizes should be provided for a company of 45 children. That proportion, it being estimated, would achieve success.

Dancing can never be relied on in a company of children of various ages; only simple dances, like the polka or plain waltz, ought to be attempted.

Children like plays with music accompaniment; the old fashioned "going to Jerusalem" seems never to pall. Kissing games have quite gone out, even among the youngsters. This is not to be deplored. They were usually romps of partiality and favoritism.

For refreshments for children's parties too much cannot be urged in favor of their wholesomeness and simplicity. Dainty sandwiches of potted ham, breast of chicken or turkey, with a plain jelly, like currant or cranberry, and chocolate not too rich are a sufficient first course, with ice cream and some simple cakes to follow. Don't give the children coffee or rich nut cake or layer cake. Little patties frosted of any simple make delight them equally well and are not so difficult to digest.

Have an abundance of everything. The capacity of little folks is startling to those who are not used to it. Often candies are not served with the supper, but are put in little white boxes, tied with blue ribbons for the boys and pink for the girls, and passed to the children as they leave the house.

A Jack Horner pie always pleases and is passed after the children have returned to the parlor from the supper room. Trifles with narrow ribbons attached, are packed in large tin pads which is covered with perforated tissue paper, the ribbons being skillfully drawn through the perforations.

Another and prettier way is to select small favors as near as may be identical size and wrap them in fringed tissue papers of variegated hue. These tasseled parcels are then packed in a large dish, the fringed ends forming a fluffy mass of color to choose from.

The Japanese stores, which are now in almost every community, offer usually excellent facilities to secure prizes.

Young Butler Liked Whisky. Many years ago when Butler and Ian Hamilton, the South African campagners, were both lieutenants, they were in the Scottish highlands shooting. One day Butler fell into a muddy hole up to his neck. On being pulled out somebody gave him a big drink of old Scotch whisky. Butler tossed it off with relish, snacked his lips and said: "Give me another and I'll jump in again."

Fragrant as ripe fruit—pure as a mountain spring—Hoary with age and a blessing to men when rightly used—that's Harper Whisky. Sold by J. F. Sweeney and Kehoe Bros., Janesville, Wis.

GOOD TIMES AND GLAD TIMES FOR THE FARMER.

THE FAILED PROPHET

ALWAYS MISSED IT, WILL MISS IT AGAIN, AND BRYAN IS HIS NAME.

Bits of Sarcasm in the High Priest's Speech of Acceptance—Encouragement For Aguinaldo—How the United States Has Expanded in the Past Without "the Consent of the Governed."

[Special Washington Letter.]

Mr. Bryan's speech of acceptance was carefully prepared and was intended to be a keynote for the present campaign. It is worthy of study, as it is one of the most painstaking efforts ever issued by this new school of politics. Yet, like all political utterances, it is an ex parte statement composed of about equal parts of charges against the Republicans and promises of what the Democrats will do in the event of Bryan's election.

The Democratic candidate is an experienced promiser and political prophet, and both promises and prophecies are matters of record. He speaks also not only for himself alone, but for his party, and his statements must be weighed by the actions of his party in the past.

Four years ago this young prophet of the west declared that the gold standard would make it necessary to advocate the closing of the public schools. (Monmouth, Ills., speech.) Today under the gold standard there are more schools and better ones than ever before. The prophecy was false.

In his speech of acceptance he said: "Some argue that American rule in the Philippine Islands will result in the better education of the Filipinos. Be not deceived. If we expect to maintain a colonial policy, we shall not find it to our advantage to educate the people."

This assertion must have been whispered into the speech by the southern wing of the party, who openly declare that they are tired of paying taxes to educate the negro, who by education simply becomes a greater rogue. Bryan affirms that the Republicans would do with the brown man what the Democrats are now doing with the black man.

Then by a peculiar mental process, which it is impossible to follow, he pillories the Republicans for what he affirms they will do and indorses the Democrats because they have done the same thing. One course of conduct is a fact; the other is simply assumed.

Four years ago Bryan said "the gold standard would destroy the hope of the toiler. It would destroy the opportunity to work, it would increase the number of idle men, it would discourage enterprise. It would paralyze industry."

Economic conditions today prove the falsity of every one of these prophecies. The toilers have hope, there is opportunity to work, there are fewer idle men, enterprise has not been discouraged and industry has not been paralyzed.

Mr. Bryan, however, has fallen into the habit of issuing lamentations, and, while not making so many financial predictions, tearful and dark, trimmed with ruined homes and starving free men, he soars to a higher plane—money in 1900 is dithy lucre—and assures us, after his political halo had been re-burnished by the Kansas City convention, that if he is not elected "celebrations of the Fourth of July will pass away."

Is it surprising that the people refuse to see? Indeed, past experience has led them to believe that the reverse of the predictions of the prophet is that which will surely come to pass.

In his Indianapolis speech of acceptance he arraigns the Republican party in the following manner:

"In attempting to press economic questions upon the country to the exclusion of those which involve the very structure of our government the Republican leaders give new evidence of their abandonment of the earlier ideals of the party and of their complete subserviency to pecuniary considerations."

That expression from the apostle and high priest of an economic question, who forced it down the throats of the delegates who nominated him, who stands for silver, free silver, unlimited silver and nothing but silver, is a delicious bit of sarcasm which must have made the knowing ones smile when they heard it. It is simply a plea to talk about something else than silver this year, because there are no votes to be made by advocating a disproved theory, and then because the Republican leaders refuse to allow him to let silver alone he charges them with having abandoned the earlier ideals of their party.

He also asks in rounded periods: "Who will draw a line between the natural rights of the Cubans and the Filipinos? Who will say that the former have a right to liberty and the latter have no rights we are bound to respect?"

Now, had he asked those questions with reference to the negroes of Mississippi and North Carolina the answer would have been easy for the white Democrats of those states, who shoot, terrify and disfranchise the negro in open violation of the spirit and express words of the constitution of the United States. They can answer, as they are specialists in defining rights which they refuse to respect, and Mr. Bryan is the man who hopes to profit by their methods that disgrace the states which will send solid delegations to congress by the suppression of the Republican vote.

This is my opinion as a lawyer and I will put it against Mr. Bryan's or any other lawyer. This is a matter never yet passed upon by the supreme court, and depends wholly on the construction of section 3, article 4, of the constitution, which says: "The congress shall have power to dispose of and make all needful rules and regulations respecting the territory or other property belonging to the United States."

"The experiments which were a few years ago made by Professor Boyd Dawkins and Mr. F. Brady in Kent also proved this thing correct. The boring was put down through the chalk, and the first coal seam of 2 feet 3 inches thick was struck at a depth of 1,130 feet. Between that and 2,000 feet eight workable seams were proved."

"I contend that this section does not give congress any authority to part with the jurisdiction of a single acre of our national territory. Congress has no right to sell or give away or convey a single acre to a foreign power, nor to set up an independent government on any acre of the public domain. This gives only general authority over our territory to dispose of them by dividing and naming them, surveying them, selling them to settlers, providing for local government and the enforcement of the laws, the protection of timber, locating of town sites, admitting them as states and exercising all acts of ownership and control and national jurisdiction, but absolutely no authority to part with national ownership and jurisdiction. It may exercise all acts of ownership, but cannot part with that ownership.

"Space will not justify an extended brief on this question, but I will put my opinion as a lawyer that our supreme court will so construe our constitution. That congress has no right to dissolve this union, or part with the jurisdiction of any part of our territory when once acquired. Successful revolution only can accomplish it.

"This is not an imperial government, though Mr. Bryan's ideas would make it so. Imperial governments dispose of their territory in that way when they please, but the territory of this country is held by and for the people, and jurisdiction once vested in our nation must forever remain until our constitution is amended, giving some authority for the dissolution of its territory.

"Every patriotic democrat should support McKinley in preference to Bryan. First, because every issue is virtually settled, and settled by the republicans on old democratic principles. The tariff and the money standards are not fundamental questions, but questions of policy, and the gold standard will likely stand the test of experience, and is, therefore, permanently settled. All parties now agree on a tariff sufficient to pay the expenses of government, laid lightest on necessities, and in such a way as to give the best protection to our own products and commerce. The only real question between the two parties is the fundamental one of expansion or anti-expansion. And on this the republicans stand on the old democratic principles of Jeffersonian expansion. Second, because McKinley has made the best president since Washington and Lincoln, and that under the most trying complications and difficulties, and shown himself a careful and able statesman. Third, because Bryan has proved himself to be a selfish politician, using his oratorical gifts at $500 an hour or the gate receipts, and acting the part of a walking delegate of the labor trust in appealing to the restless, idle and dissatisfied elements, and flattering the workingmen and plain people which is inconsistent with true dignity and statesmanship. Fourth, because his position on the Philippine question is inconsistent, unstatesman-like and undemocratic. Fifth, because he is more of a populist than a democrat, and by the populist platform is bound to support the "initiative and referendum" and otherwise revolutionize our government. Sixth, because he represents such a conglomerate mass of discordant democrats, populists, greenbackers and extreme elements that he is not strong enough, and no man is strong enough, to control them, and if elected his administration would produce endless wrangling and discord and be worse even than Cleveland's last term. Respectfully,

GEORGE W. WARDER,

AFTER NEW COAL AREAS.

Science to Come to the Consumers' Aid in Great Britain.

"Will the serious consideration which is now being given to the coal question lead to scientific research and the discovery of new coal areas in different parts of the United Kingdom?" says the London Daily Mail. A coal expert to whom the question was put by a representative of that paper expressed an affirmative opinion.

"It will be found," he said, "that our coal reserves are far from being exhausted. The readily accessible seams of coal near the surface are the chief seams which have been worked in this country, and it is these which are showing signs of exhaustion. New sources of supply will be found at greater depths and will involve the initial outlay of much larger capital expenditure and the establishment of shafts with appliances of much larger capacity."

"The small coal owner," he continued, "may become extinct, and there may only be room for the great capitalist, but this fact will guarantee greater efficiency in mining and less waste. Science will be sure to unite with capital and prevent any very appreciable increase in the cost of coal mining. In various parts of the country borings are being put down to thoroughly test the geology of the district, and in several cases where upper seams have been worked tests are being and will be made at a lower depth."

"An old fashioned notion was that coal did not exist under the chalk; but," he pointed out, "as far back as 1856, in a paper read before the Royal Geological Society, Mr. Godwin Austen concluded that coal would be found under the secondary rocks in the southeast of England, and this opinion was supported by Professor Sir J. Prestwich at the royal coal commission in 1871."

"The experiments which were a few years ago made by Professor Boyd Dawkins and Mr. F. Brady in Kent also proved this thing correct. The boring was put down through the chalk, and the first coal seam of 2 feet 3 inches thick was struck at a depth of 1,130 feet. Between that and 2,000 feet eight workable seams were proved."

"Senator Jones the Man.

Senator Jones is the proper calamity representative. Live stock in Arkansas decreased in value from $22,732,245 in 1896 to $21,409,682 in 1900.

At the same time the live stock on farms in the entire country increased in value from $1,541,386,339 to $2,042,810,812. Senator Jones should look to his own state."

Concerning the Cow.

The American cow has felt the effect of Republican good times. Her value has gone up about $10 since 1895, from $21.95 a head to about $31.00 a head.

She has also had to supply more milk, because of the demand attendant on the filling of the workingman's dinner plate.

Chairman Hanna has not been compelled to attempt an explanation of his contention with trust for the simple reason that, unlike Chairman Jones, he is not a beneficiary of such organizations.

Whatever may be the opinion of congress in the matter Bryan as the com-

ELECTION NOTICE.

To the Electors of Rock County:

Notice is hereby given that a general election is to be held in the several towns, wards and election precincts in the county of Rock, on the 6th day of November, 1900, at which the officers named below are to be elected. The names of the candidate for each office to be voted for, whose nominations have been certified to this office, are given opposite the title of the office and under the appropriate party or other designation, in its proper column, and the questions submitted to a vote are stated below.

INFORMATION TO VOTERS.

The following instructions are given for the information and guidance of voters. A voter upon entering the polling place and giving his name and residence, will receive a ballot from the ballot clerk which must be endorsed thereon the names or initials of both ballot clerks, and no other ballot can be used. Upon receiving his ballot, the voter must retire alone to a booth or compartment and prepare the same for voting. A voter may inform the voter as to the proper manner of marking a ballot, but he must not advise or indicate in any manner whom to vote for. The voter if he wishes to vote for all the candidates nominated by any party, make a cross mark X under the party designation printed at the top of the ballot in the square made for that purpose. A ballot so marked, and having no other mark, will become the counted for all the candidates of the party in the column underneath, unless the names of some of the candidates of the party have been erased or a cross mark be placed in the square under the name or at any place in the space occupied by the name or name of the candidate in another column, and will be counted for all the names written in lieu of one erased. If the voter wishes to vote for some of the candidates of different political parties, he should make a cross' mark in the blank space under the printed name of the candidate for the office. The ballot should not be marked in any other manner. If the ballot be spoiled, it must be returned to the ballot clerk, who must issue another. In stead, but not more than three in all to any one voter. Five minutes' time is allowed in booth to mark ballot. Unofficial ballots or memorandum to assist the voter in marking his ballot can be taken into the booth and may be used to copy from. The ballot must not be shown so that any person can see how it has been marked by the voter. After it is marked, it should be folded so that the inside cannot be seen, but so that the printed endorsements and signatures of the ballot clerks on the outside may be seen. Then the voter should pass out of the booth or compartment, give his name to the inspector in charge of the ballot box, hand him his ballot to be placed in the box, and pass out of the voting place. A voter who declares to the presiding officer that he is unable to read, or that by reason of physical disability he is unable to mark his ballot, can have assistance of one or two election officers in marking the same, to be chosen by the voter; and if he declares that he is totally blind, he may be assisted by any person chosen by him from among the legal voters of the county. The presiding officer may administer an oath in his discretion, as to such person's disability. The party designations and candidates for the different offices are as follows:

Voters Should Not Allow the All-Absorbing Presidential Question to Overlook the Local Men Put Up for Office—Good Candidates on the Republican Ticket.

Voters should not allow the all absorbing question of who will be the next president of the United States to cause them to overlook the candidates for the lesser offices, state and county.

The state and county officers are of
as much importance to the community as is the head of the ticket. Good men are wanted to fill the local offices and no better ones than those selected by the republicans of this state and county can be found. Be sure and see that your ballot is marked for every republican on the list and you cannot go wrong.

Hon. J. M. Whitehead has already served in the capacity of state senator for which office he is a candidate at this time. He has an unblemished record and a vote for him means a continuation of just laws.

Charles L. Valentine is one of the best men that could be secured for the office of assemblyman, and his long term of office as register of deeds for this county is all the recommendation he needs.

Al'merson Eager and Halver Cleo-phas are both well known in the country and are bright men with a clean political record.

Frank P. Starr, the present county clerk is a candidate for re-election, and the records of his office will show that he is well fitted for the position.

Miles Rice, the candidate for the office of county treasurer is a man well qualified for the position and has all the qualifications necessary to successfully fill all the requirements of the office.

Royal J. Maltress, the well-known Edgerton tobacco buyer, is an ideal candidate for the office of sheriff. If elected his term of office will compare favorably with that of any previous sheriff.

John R. Booth of Beloit will make an excellent coroner and his long carer as justice of the peace has made him familiar with all the duties of the office.

Theodore W. Goldin is well known to the people. The records of his office will show that he has been one of the best clerks of the court that Rock county has had.

William A. Jackson, who is a candidate for re-election to the office of district attorney, could not be improved upon. He has been more than successful in securing convictions, and devotes his time to the best interests of the position.

Oscar D. Rowe has proved that he is well fitted for the position of register of deeds. There is no reason to fear that the people of Rock county will see any change made in this position.

Charles V. Kerch is the city engineer for the city of Janesville and is eminently fitted for the position of county surveyor. There will be no mistakes made in the records of the county under his care.

William M. Ross and David Throne have shown the people of the county that as school superintendents they are first-class. They are always on the watch for anything that will benefit the schools throughout the county.

Vote the straight republican ticket and you will make no mistake. The men that are on that ticket as candidates for office cannot be improved upon.

See that you make one cross at the top of the republican column and you will not go wrong.

TO HEAT BUILDINGS
WITH HOT WATER

The hot water system of heating buildings was placed in Janesville in in operation. Saturday by the Janesville Electric company. The stores and offices in the Phoebeus block are heated by this system which can be extended to stores and buildings a mile distant from the plant.

The pump by which the water is circulated through the pipes is located at the electric plant and is so arranged that the supply of heat can be regulated to keep pace with the weather.
In very cold weather the circulation of the water is increased and when the weather grows warmer the circulation is reduced. The electric company runs its pipes to the building to be heated, the landlord putting in his own pipes and radiators.

MISS KENT TO SPEND
WINTER IN FLORIDA

Miss Nettie Kent will spend the winter months under Florida's sunny skies. She has accepted the position of governess of Miss Sherman of Orlando, an eleven year old girl.
She is going to spend the winter at Orlando, where her grandmother and Miss Kent's many friends will rejoice with her over her good fortune. Miss Kent has secured a substitute to fill her position at the Washington school during her absence.

RINK MANAGEMENT EXPLAINS

F. A. Taylor & Co. Speak in Plain Terms
Terms Regarding Patrons

In opening our Palace Rink to the people of Janesville, we deem it pertinent to define our position as to the people we will entertain.

We solicit the patronage of ladies, gentlemen and children only who conduct themselves in a manner consistent with propriety and decorum.

We will not admit either as spectators or skaters, persons of disrepute, or their associates, and will promptly request their absence, with a return of their money, when such are discovered in the building.

To those who enjoy the delightful exercise and pleasure of roller skating, this rink is dedicated; and it will be so conducted as to command the respect of people of culture and refinement.

Open afternoons from 2 to 5; evenings, 7 to 10. Imperial Band every evening. F. A. Taylor & Co.

WILL ASSESS THE
POLICY HOLDERSLOCAL BUSINESS MEN MUCH WORKED UP.

Plan of the Manufacturers' and Merchants' Mutual Company of Rockford Ill., to Collect Five Times the Amount of the Annual Premium from the Policy Holders.

Local business men who have policies in the Manufacturers and Merchants Mutual insurance company of Rockford, Ill., are very much worked up over the step taken by the company to assess the policy holders the full limit or five times the annual premium.

Indications are that the company is in a bad way and unless the assessments levied by the company will be promptly paid the company will be placed in liquidation. Secretary Carse is authority for the statement that the Manufacturer's and Merchants is not prepared to pay return premiums on cash policies. This is taken as strong evidence if its bad financial condition.

The company inserted a provision in the cash policies holding them non-assessable in lieu of the policy holder surrendering the right to participate in dividends, but it is the opinion of legal authorities that the clause is void and not authorized by the charter of the company. The statute provides that cash policies may be assessed for three times the annual premium, while mutual policy holders are liable for an assessment of five times the annual premium.

The procedure taken by this company is unusual in the history of mutual companies. Many of the business men took out policies in this company on account of the rate of insurance being less than that of the old line companies represented by local agents.

The result is that it will cost the insured a much larger rate for their protection than it would had they taken policies in the old line companies. The outcome of this matter will be closely watched by the local men interested.

ENGINEERS GRANTED
INCREASE IN WAGES

Several Who Make Their Homes in Janesville Are Included in the List.

The eighteen members of the C. M.
& St. P. R. R. committee of engineers who went to Chicago last week and represented an application for an increase in wages of all the engineers on the system have met with success.

The committee treated with President Earling, General Collins and General Superintendent Underwood.

One of the delegates when asked by a reporter about the conference said:
"Our request was granted without hesitation. The new schedule will go into effect on November 28. It will effect everyone of the 2,200 engineers on our system. The compound, ten-wheel and eight wheel men will be increased 15 cents per 100 miles, and the switch engineers will be increased 27 1/2 cents per day. The aggregate of these increases will amount to nearly $30,000 per annum in the salary rolls of the Milwaukee road."

DR. FENGER GIVEN A WARM TESTIMONIAL

Drs. James Mills and W. H. Palmer are home from Chicago where they attended a testimonial banquet given to D. Christian Fenger, professor of chemical surgery in Rush Medical college, by his brethren in the medical profession. The banquet was given at the Auditorium and was a swell affair.

Dr. Fenger has been connected with the medical college in Chicago since 1877 and a large number of Janesville graduates have been his pupils.
About fifty doctors were present from Milwaukee. Drs. Mills and Palmer were the only ones from this city to attend.

MATCH GOLF GAME
AGAINST COL. BOGEY

Some Interesting Sport is Promised on the Buckleton Links Tomorrow Afternoon.

The game of golf on the grounds of the Sennissippi golf club tomorrow will be a match against Bogeys. The handicapping committee have arranged handicaps for all players and a splendid contest is expected.

The first prize is a handsome tobacco jar given by the Gazette Printing Company. The second prize a golf club given by J. P. Baker and the third a dollar's worth of balls donated by a member.

The grounds are in perfect condition and at no time during the season have they been better. It is expected that on account of tomorrow being a legal holiday a large number of the members will take advantage of the chance to compete for the trophies. No admission will be charged to enter the match and the bus will meet all cars after nine o'clock.

Perry Munger is here from Chicago to cast his ballot for McKinley and Roosevelt.

MAKES PLEA FOR THE BOERS.

Intervention Urged by One Who Fought with Them.

TELLS OF MANY OUTRAGES.

Says the American People Should Demand at Once the Cessation of Weyler-Like Murders and Nameless Atrocities in South Africa.

New York, Nov. 5.—Arthur Lynch of the Boer army, who is now at the Manhattan hotel, has sent a letter to the New York Sun in which he says: "We are informed by the English press that wherever the Boers, in course of their legitimate operations, have destroyed portions of the railway lines, the English troops have burned all the adjacent villages and farms. We read from the same source that Boer women have been deported from Jagersfontein and imprisoned a few miles out of the city, and that all Boers over 14 years of age living beyond a limit of ten miles from Bloemfontein are being surrounded and brought into the city. Remember that on the African veldt the burning of a Boer farm means not merely that extent of material loss to the owner but absolute ruin and prospective starvation to the whole family. It means the alternative to the Boer of betraying his country or facing death by the bullet for himself, disgrace for his women folk, hunger leading to death for his children. And remember also that it is from the English press, which has been feeding the public for the last two years on falsehoods and calumnies against the Boers, that we are permitted to gain even this glimpse of the horrors of South Africa. What must the reality be?"

"I read that the report is denied that Lord Salisbury has consented to the release of the American prisoners of war who fought for the Boers. This is doubly regrettable, as according to a letter which I have received from Ceylon, several prisoners have died there. The question of American intervention has again and again been mooted. It is quite feasible for the government of the United States to take action in this matter on the basis of the resolutions of The Hague conference, and humanity calls for something more than a mere perfunctory fulfillment of the form of proffered mediation. The objection that the United States has no concern in South Africa is both cowardly and unjust. I have pointed out in various quarters the great and growing trade which existed between America and the republics of South Africa, and while the stars and stripes now float in so many parts of the world remote from America, it is not consistent with the dignity of this country to allow her industries to be ousted from South Africa as the consequence of a war of British conquest."

"It needs that the American people should demand the cessation of these Weyler-like murders and nameless atrocities in South Africa, and that in their wrath they shall make the moral power in America felt throughout the world in declaring in tones which brook no denial that this cursed thing shall no longer offend the senses of man."

Appeal of Roberts.

London, Nov. 5.—Lord Roberts sends from Pretoria a striking appeal to his countrymen, to refrain from turning the welcome of the home-coming troops into a drunken orgy. He expresses the sincere hope that the welcome will not take the form of treating to stimulants, and "thus lead to excesses that will tend to degrade those whom the nation delights to honor, and lower the soldiers of the queen in the eyes of the world which has watched with undisguised admiration the grand work they have performed for their somewhat sovereign country."

Eleven Persons Injured.

Cincinnati, O., Nov. 5.—Two electric cars on the Cincinnati, Lawrenceburg & Aurora Electric railway collided near Cleves, O., owing to a misunderstanding of orders. The cars were wrecked and eleven passengers injured, some seriously, none fatally. The seriously injured: George Lyons, motorman, severely hurt about the hips and thigh. William Kellogg, motorman, left leg wrenched about the hip joint. Mrs. V. W. Huber of Lawrenceburg, Ind., teeth knocked out. Mrs. Charles Little of Lawrenceburg, Ind., gash across the jaw Joseph West, conductor on C. L. & A. line, bruised about the head.

VICTIMS OF THE FILIPINOS.

MacArthur Sends Names of Men Who Have Fallen in Battle.

Washington, D. C., Nov. 5.—Adj't Gen. Corbin received a cable message from Gen. MacArthur, at Manila, giving the following list of casualties during the recent engagements with the Filipino insurgents: Killed: Fred L. ## Girl Commits Suicide.

Crawfordsville, Ind., Nov. 5.—Bertha Wills of Linden, 17 years old, committed suicide by shooting herself with a rifle. She was employed as a domestic and was accused by her employer of stealing loaf sugar and taking it to bed with her to eat. The girl went to her home, locked herself in her bedroom, pulled off her shoes and stockings, rested a loaded rifle on the bed, and pulled the trigger with her toes. She was shot through the heart and instantly killed.

Army at Lyons Guards Louhet.

Lyons, Nov. 5.—Twenty-five thousand troops assembled here to guard President Louhet during the dedication of the monument to former President Sadi Carnot. One hundred and twenty-five Anarchist suspects were arrested and put in prison until the President departed from the city. The only insurrection offered the chief executive of France took the form of glaring red posters all over the city accusing him of all sorts of political crimes.

Ohio Bank Is Robbed.

Bellefontaine, Ohio, Nov. 5.—The Farmers' and Merchants' bank at Jackson Center was blown open at 2 o'clock this morning. So far as known about $5,000 was secured. Citizens aroused by the explosion poured into the streets, only to be driven in by heavily-armed and masked men, who left town on a handcar over the Ohio Southern railway. The bank building was damaged by the explosion to the extent of $1,000.

Captures a Big Salamander.

Clinton, Iowa, Nov. 5.—A young man by the name of John Hamilton killed a good-sized alligator in Jones county, which is supposed to have come from the Mississippi river. The animal was discovered near a creek some distance from the river. When Hamilton first saw the alligator he was badly frightened, as it opened its mouth and showed teeth. Hamilton secured a long pole and after considerable hard work succeeded in killing the alligator, which he dragged to his home after much difficulty.

Three Iron Plants Unite.

Buffalo, N. Y., Nov. 5.—Under the firm name of the Buffalo Union Furnace company three of the largest iron smelting plants in South Buffalo have been consolidated. The capital stock is $1,200,000. ## LLOYD J. SMITH ACQUITTED.

Great Twelve Days Trial at Chicago Is Ended.

SCENES IN THE COURTROOM

Jury Finds Smith Not Guilty of Shipping Grain Without Canceling Warehouse Receipts—His Wife Paints in the Courtroom.

Chicago, Nov. 5.—Lloyd J. Smith, republican candidate for drainage trustee, was acquitted of the charge of shipping grain without canceling warehouse receipts by a jury in Judge Holdom's court.

When the clerk read the words "Not guilty," Mr. Smith's friends in the courtroom, numbering nearly 300, burst into cheers. In the street below were fully 600 more friends of the defendant, who had not been able to get into the courtroom. These friends heard the cheer in the courtroom and sent up a mighty shout. The cheering continued without interruption for half an hour. Such a demonstration was never before witnessed in the history of the Chicago courts.

Mrs. Smith, who had sat beside her husband during the twelve days of the trial, was at his side when the verdict was read. As the clerk finished the reading she fell to the floor in a faint. Her husband sprang to his feet, tore off his coat, raised her head and placed the coat underneath. Friends hurried to his side and Mrs. Smith was carried into Judge Holdom's private chambers, where a physician from among the friends in the courtroom went to her assistance.

Lloyd J. Smith, still in his shirt sleeves, then came from the room where his wife lay unconscious. Tears came to his eyes as he told of her condition. Friends surrounded Mr. Smith and overwhelmed him with congratulations on his victory. Nearly everyone present was crying.

James P. Smith, the venerable father of the defendant, embraced his son and both wept. Neither could utter a word. Mr. Smith's brothers, three in number, next embraced him. Following them came numerous friends, all weeping, while the tears rolled down Mr. Smith's face.

Judge Holdom made no attempt to restore order in the court room until Mr. Smith had returned to the side of his wife, who was still unconscious. It was then the judge ordered the ten bailiffs in the court room to remove those persons who were merely spectators. From the streets came the cheering, and the noise almost drowned the judge's voice. Judge Holdom turned to the jury.

"I do not want you gentlemen to receive what I say as against the course you have taken in deciding this case," he said, addressing the twelve tired and worn men in the box; "I merely wish to compliment you upon your perfect demeanor during this case. Cook county and the people will ever feel thankful to jurors who conduct themselves as you have."

The judge made a few additional remarks which failed to hide his surprise at a verdict which had been rendered almost directly contrary to his instructions.

It will not be a surprise to any who are at all familiar with the good qualities of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy, to know that the people everywhere take pleasure in relating their experience in the use of that splendid medicine and in telling of the benefit they have received from it, of bad colds it has cured, of threatened attacks of pneumonia it has averted and of the children it has saved from attacks of croup and whooping cough. It is a grand, good medicine. For sale by Smith's Pharmacy, next to P. O., Kodak Agents.

Woman Tops the Question.

Rochester, N. Y., Nov. 5.—Because the woman in the case popped the question Judge Davy granted an order setting aside a judgment for $2,500 in a breach of promise case brought before him today. Leo Badhorn, a widower of 42, and Maria Drexelius, a widow of 48, are neighbors. Both having lost their helpmates. Both were natural that they should see much of each other, and Mrs. Drexelius, after waiting for Mr. Badhorn to propose for some time, popped the question herself. When this was told Justice Davy by Badhorn's attorney the judge at once set aside the judgment and gave Badhorn another chance to plead his side of the case.

Earthquake Shocks in Hawaii.

San Francisco, Cal., Nov. 5.—A schooner from Hilo, Hawaii, brought news of four severe shocks of earthquake on Oct. 11. These shocks were so heavy and were accompanied by such loud rumblings that residents were expecting another eruption of the great volcano of Kilauea.

Germans Defeat Boxers.

Berlin, Nov. 5.—Dispatches from China state that the Germans have defeated a force of boxers near Kaum, province of Shantung, killing many of them.

THE FRENCH DEFEND DOPE.

A Jockey Claims Owners Have a Right to "Fix" Horses to Win.

New York, Nov. 5.—A dispatch to the Herald from Paris says:

M. Veil Picard, the well known horse owner, referring to Lord Durham's recent criticism of American jockeys, said today:

"After much hesitation, several of my colleagues, after noting the results obtained in England by 'Tod' Sloan and the Reiffs, decided upon trying the American article, as it is called in France. Imbued with this idea, the Due de Grammont engaged 'Cash' Sibani. M. Gaston Dreyfus got Freeman, and I afterward secured Sims at a retaining fee such as has never before been paid in France.

"At sundry intervals 'Tod' Sloan has crossed the channel to ride for various owners, while Rugby, now definitely engaged by Mme. Albert-Menier, came to ride for M. Maurice Calliault.

"All this was done after mature consideration, and none of us has as yet had to repent his determination. 'Cash' Sloan, although far from being the equal of his brother 'Tod' who, in my opinion, after 'Tom' Lane in his best days, is the greatest jockey that the world has seen, is a good rider. Freeman is a first class jockey, and as for Sims—well, he is in my service, so I cannot say much.

"As to the style of riding for straight-away short-distance races, I think the American system preferable as long as the race is on the straight-away, but I greatly fear that on the turns the jockey has not the same facility as those who ride in the European style.

"In my idea, the American system is from 'flag to post.' When once the horse with the American jockey on his back has shot his bolt all is over. And not only this. I have often seen an American jockey, Tod Sloan excepted, make an effort at the finish, and his horse, unaccustomed to the new style of riding, has swerved and lost a race that was virtually won.

"The question of 'doping,' as it is called in the United States, is a new phase of the game here. 'Doping' to lose is ancient history, but drugging a horse in order that he may win is every owner's right, and rules for racing make provision for it, for every horse started is to run to win. A bottle of whisky or bottle of champagne is frequently given before the competitor leaves the paddock. As for the French public it wants true-run races. American jockeys, for whom their own country, owing to their weight, has no further use, have come here to win, and their advent has already had a beneficial effect, as it has made the home contingent sit up."

"My opinion is that we should strive to keep these American jockeys with us." Andrew Carnegie.

Andrew Carnegie, the American steel and iron king, was born at Dunfermline, Scotland, on Nov. 25, 1837. He emigrated to the United States at an early age, and later established the large iron and steel works at Pittsburgh, Pa., which bear his name. His address in the United States is New York, and in Scotland, Skibo Castle, Sutherland.

NEW WOMAN
BY ELIZA
ANCHARD
CONNELL

The story of a remarkable oriental religious order has been published. It is the order of the Behais, or, as they formerly called themselves, the Babis. The society took its rise in Persia, the ancient home of the fire worshippers, and spread like wildfire. Originating in 1844 with a young Mohammedan who called himself El Bab, or "The Gate," the new faith passed like a wave through western Asia, into India and Japan. Not only this, but it was at length carried into Russia, western Europe and finally to the United States.

Today, known to few outside of themselves, there are 2,000 Babis in this country, the fortunate land where there is no religious martyrdom such as the sect endured in Persia. Forty thousand Babis suffered torture and death for their faith in Persia. It is recorded of them that they seemed not to suffer pain from the awful tortures, but went to their death murmuring the Arabic text, "Verily we are God's, and to him we return." After the martyrdom of the Babis in 1850 there arose for them Beha'nullah, called "The Manifestation of God." He further developed and advanced the doctrines, and the Babis now call themselves from his name, "Behais."

The followers of the new faith are taught to live literally the ethical teachings of the New Testament, to school themselves in unselfishness and humility and to accept the doctrine of the confirmation of the spirit as taught by the apostles. The true followers of the Behai drop from them at a stroke the complications and worries of modern social existence and lead lives of extreme simplicity.

A feature that distinguished the Behai faith from other oriental theologies is that from the beginning it inculcated the perfect equality of the sexes. If it did not, then one would know it to be false. Thousands of Behai women suffered martyrdom in Persia before the sect was driven to its present headquarters at Acre, in Palestine. A herald, prophet and martyr of the new faith was Kurratu'l'Ayn, the most famous woman poet of Persia. One day, full of the spirit of prophecy, Kurratu'l'Ayn tore the veil from her face, which act was a scandal to all Persia and Turkey, ran to the tent of the Behai and bade him come forth and take his place as leader of the Babis. He obeyed and that day began his mission. Today the most eloquent and successful teachers of the new faith in England, France and the United States are women.

Occasionally we read in dispatches from the Philippines a very unpleasant item of the killing of Tagalo women and children by American soldiers. To one not knowing the circumstances this seems a wanton and awful atrocity. But it is war, which is itself a wanton atrocity. Like all uncivilized peoples, the Philippine natives take with them into camp their wives and children. They take refuge, men, women and children, a whole village at a time, in a church or behind cunningly wrought intrenchments and from this safe shelter pour fire into the ranks of advancing American troops. In order to stop the fire it is necessary to dislodge them. To dislodge them it is necessary to fire at them, sometimes to batter down the walls of their stronghold with cannon. Women and children are among them, and women and children sometimes are shot and killed. That is how it happens. Certainly no English speaking white man would deliberately fire upon a defenseless woman or a child.

I have been away from the United States nearly two years and two months. I have traveled in that time almost 50,000 miles and been all around the globe. I have been near enough to the north pole to have reached it in two days if there had been a railway to it. I have been within 150 miles of the equator and out on the battle line in the Philippines. I feel as though I had lived a century of experience in the time I have been away, and after it all I come home to find the woman's page of the newspapers still giving directions for making an embroidered dustpan holder. Oh, my country!

We hobble through life like a fly with a broken wing when we should rise and soar joyously, using all our powers, thankful for every moment of earthly existence.

Well send you a little to try, if you like.

Airship Built in Texas.

Austin, Tex., Nov. 5.—The Custard Airship company, which was incorporated several months ago with a capital stock of $100,000, has about completed the first practical airship since its factory was established at Elm Mott, Tex. The machine will be ready for use in a few days. The whole machine will weigh 250 pounds and will carry from three to five people. The inventor is W. D. Custard, telegraph operator at Elm Mott.

Millionaire Crouse Is Dead.

Syracuse, N. Y., Nov. 5.—Jacob Crouse, regarded as the richest man in Syracuse, is dead. He was 76 years old and had retired from active business as a wholesale grocer, but managed his real estate interests, which were the largest held by any Syracusean. His estate is estimated at about $50,000. Mr. Crouse was a Republican in politics. He is survived by a widow, son and daughter.

Boy Kills His Sister.

Patchogue, L. I., Nov. 5.—Olive Newton was playing soldier with her brother when the lad accidentally struck his sister in the eye with a sharp stick he was using as a lance. The point penetrated the eye socket and pierced the brain. The child screamed with pain and sank to the ground unconscious. She lingered through the night and died in the morning.

Schooner Lost; Lives Saved.

San Francisco, Nov. 5.—The whaler Karluc has arrived from the north with news of the loss of the schooner Lizzie E. near Gardner Bay, July 26. The passengers and crew escaped in small boats, rowing two hundred miles to Dutch Harbor, where they took passage on the schooner Bear of Seattle. Later A. S. Bashier, a Klondiker from Salem, Ore., was washed overboard and drowned.

The First Yankees.

When the Indians endeavored to say "English" they said instead "Yanges," and afterward the English themselves began to use the word, and hence the origin of the term "Yankees."

NERVE FOOD

If you have neuralgia, Scott's emulsion of cod-liver oil will feed the nerve that is crying for food—it is hungry—and set your whole body going again, in a way to satisfy nerve and brain with your usual food.

That is cure.

If you are nervous and irritable, you may only need more fat to cushion your nerves—you are probably thin—and Scott's emulsion of cod-liver oil will give you the fat, to begin with.

Cure, so far as it goes. Full cure is getting the fat you need from usual food, and Scott's emulsion will help you to that.

We will send you a little to try, if you like.

FOR LITTLE FOLKS.

Among Icebergs.

It is exciting to read about voyages in the direction of the north pole, is it not, boys? But quite a different thing to be alone on a wrecked vessel, with the icebergs to look at and nothing else except the pitiless waves.

Jack Russell had chosen the sea-man's life because, as he used to say, he could not help it. He loved home and he loved his parents, and he always left the biggest part of his heart behind him in dear old England when he had to go away.

During the first few voyages all went well enough. Jack had plenty to tell in the way of yarns, but he had not been in danger of his life.

It was real enough when it did come though, and solitary, helpless, well nigh hopeless, his thoughts traveled home, and he seemed to live over again in memory his childhood, his boyhood—everything that had happened in the past.

Well, it was all over! Never again should he see the old place, the familiar faces, and with tears rising in his eyes, Jack began to whistle sadly the air worn Britshers love, ancient and time worn though it may be, "Home, Sweet Home."

Suddenly he seemed to hear the stroke of oars. Surely it must be mere fancy; who was to know of his peril, who was to come to his rescue in those lonely seas? Speaking thus to himself and trying to face death bravely, Jack went on with the tune, but only for a second.

It was no delusion after all. Round the icebergs came the little boat, manned with the brave fellows who will risk their lives to save another life, and so Jack Russell was rescued, and in due time he could sing by his own fireside "There's no place like home," with parents and brothers and sisters gathering round him.—Chatterbox.

Brave Boys.

The Victoria cross has been won on three occasions by boys—in 1855, during the Crimean campaign, by two young members of the famous naval brigade, and in 1867, when a combined fleet of British, French and Dutch ships made war upon Japan, by a midshipman of the Euryalus. The first of the trio was Edward Daniels, who, when the horses taking an ammunition wagon filled with powder were killed by a shell, rushed out and headed a party which safely brought in the ammunition under a rain of bullets in which it seemed impossible for any one to live. The second act of bravery was performed by a young boatswain, named Sullivan, when the famous Malakoff battery was taken. He took out a flagstaff and placed it on a certain mound which hid a Russian battery from our gunners, having in so doing traversed the enemy's line of fire. On the mound he had to dig a hole for the flagstaff with his fingers and pile stones around it to keep it firm. His coolness so excited the Russians that they all aimed wide, and the man escaped to receive, in addition to the famous cross, the French Legion of Honor. The act which won the Victoria cross for Duncan Boyes, the middy of the Euryalus, occurred when the combined fleets landed a contingent of men against the Japs. It was thought, however, that the Britshers alone could successfully tackle the situation, so the French and Dutch were sent back, whereupon a large body of Japanese came into view and made a determined attack. The middy, who was carrying the colors with the leading company, rushed ahead for some 20 yards toward the defenses, as though about to attempt their capture single handed. He was called back and severely reprimanded by his captain, but the spirit of daring he had displayed infected the others, and as one man, they followed him and soon took the defenses. Boyes' uniform was torn to rags by bullets, as were also the colors he carried, but he himself came out safe and sound, having well earned his reward.—Navy and Army.

How It Happened.

In Camel Land—'twas years ago
(As all the early records show)—
Mr. and Mrs. Camel tall,
Had on their backs no hump at all.

They were as proud as could be
Of their physique, as one could see.
At home they used to joke and laugh
Because so stooped their friend Circe.

When their two babies came to bless
Their home with camel loveliness,
Their joy was full. "Dear wife," said he,
"Our boys are straight as straight can be!"

But when their age was six or eight
(It pains me this fact to relate)
The parents' counsel, so they say,
The boys neglected to obey.

"Oh, sit up straight!" the mother cried
When their round shoulders she espied.
"You'll be humpbacked unless you do,"
The father said—"a thing you'll rue!"

But, no, the boys had their own way,
Refusing counsel to obey,
Until—too late to chance, slack!
Each had a hump upon his back!

—New Orleans Picayune.

Use of Garter Snakes.

Garter snakes should no more be killed than a toad, as they are of much service. They crawl about on the ground at night and eat the insects which escape the notice of birds.
